

Stanton Chase Privacy Policy

When registering on our site you may be asked to enter your name, email address, employer or other details in order to enhance your experience with our firm.

We may use the information we collect from you to send emails regarding our products and services or other professional information.

Your personal information is contained behind secured networks and is only accessible by a limited number of individuals who have special access rights to such systems and are required to keep the information confidential.

We implement a variety of security measures when a user enters information to maintain the safety of your personal information.

Do we use 'cookies'?

Yes. They are used to help us understand your preferences based on previous or current site activity, which enables us to provide you with improved services. We also use cookies to help us compile aggregate data about site traffic and site interaction so that we can offer better site experiences and tools in the future.

You can choose to have your computer warn you each time a cookie is being sent, or you can choose to turn off all cookies. You do this through your browser settings. Since each browser is a little different, look at your browser's Help Menu to learn the correct way to modify your cookies.

If you turn cookies off, some of the features that make your site experience more efficient may not function properly.

Third-party disclosure

We do not sell, trade, or otherwise transfer your personal information to outside parties.

Third-party links

We do not include or offer third-party products or services on our website.

Does our site allow third-party behavioral tracking?

It's also important to note that we do not allow third-party behavioral tracking.

Regarding our further communication with you, we agree to honor opt-out/unsubscribe requests quickly and allow users to unsubscribe by using the link at the bottom of each email.
